

ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for introducing alterations in video screen images includes projecting recordable but not viewer visible, colored bars, stripes or the like into the video screen images using randomly selected scanning sequences and/or scanning rates, each of which are selected when a known event, such as a known period of time or change in the content of the video screen images, occur.

2025 RELEASE UNDER E.O. 14176